

Charalabos Billinis is a highly accomplished Certified Public Accountant and serves as a founding member and the CEO of HBP Certified Public Accountants S.A. (HBP S.A.). He holds a degree from the Athens University of Economics and Business and is a respected member of both the Economic Chamber of Greece and S.O.E.L (Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Greece), which is an active member of I.F.A.C.

With a career spanning over 35 years, Charalabos has established himself as a prominent figure in the field. His journey began in 1985 when he joined the audit firm Moore Stephens in Greece. In 1999, he played a pivotal role in the establishment of the audit firm NEXIA EUROSTATUS SA as a shareholder. However, his most significant achievement came in July 2006 when he, alongside Vasiliki Paschalidou, founded the auditing firm HBP S.A., which has enjoyed remarkable growth since its inception.

Charalabos's extensive experience encompasses a wide range of financial services, including statutory and forensic audits, consolidated financial statements, financial advisory, company conversions, mergers and acquisitions, company valuations, liquidations, and the transition from Greek Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GR GAAP) to International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS).

HBP S.A. is synonymous with trustworthiness, offering clients the assurance that all assignments are handled with the utmost care and responsibility.

The company caters to a diverse clientele across various sectors, including manufacturing, wholesale/retail, industry, energy and resources, construction, tourism, life science-healthcare, real estate, technology, media, telecommunications, and non-profit organizations. Their comprehensive service portfolio includes external audits, internal audits, forensic audits, transfer pricing, consolidated financial statements, IFRS conversions, liquidations, accounting and tax consulting, valuations, mergers and acquisitions, business conversions, business plans, and more.

Charalabos Billinis's dedication to excellence and his commitment to delivering top-tier financial services have contributed significantly to the success and reputation of HBP S.A.